C

In 2006, the National Basketball Association (NBA) started using basketballs which are made of synthetic(合成的) or man-made material instead of leather. Why did they do this? Because they wanted every basketball that they used to feel and bounce(弹跳) the same. Not all leather balls are exactly alike in weight or bounce, but synthetic balls are.

However, some players complained at once that the new balls bounced differently and were actually harder to control than leather ones. Physics helped answer questions about why the new balls felt different. A scientist explained that they studied friction(摩擦), which affects the ability of a player to hold onto a ball. The greater the friction, the better it will stick to his hand.

Scientists tested wet and dry balls, which showed that while the synthetic balls were easier to hold onto when dry, they had less friction and became much harder to hold onto when wet. That's because sweat stays on the surface of the synthetic balls, but gets taken into the leather balls.

The scientists also tested the bounce and found that the logo printed on the new balls made their surface uneven(凹凸不平的) and caused them to bounce a little strangely compared with the leather balls.

So, in January, the NBA went back to using the leather balls. They aren't perfect, but for now, that's just the way the ball bounces.

36. Why were the synthetic balls expected to be used in the NBA according to the passage?
- A. Because they feel and bounce alike.
 - B. Because they are easier to control.
 - C. Because they waste less material.
 - D. Because basketball fans wanted.
37. The ball is easier to hold onto _____.
- A. when it is heavier
 - B. when friction is greater
 - C. when friction is less
 - D. when it is lighter
38. Why does the synthetic ball bounce differently from the leather one?
- A. It is dry.
 - B. There is a logo.
 - C. It is uneven.
 - D. All above.
39. Which sentence is TRUE according to the passage?
- A. In 2008, the NBA started using synthetic balls.

- B. People accepted(接受) the new balls right away.
- C. The NBA continued to use the leather balls.
- D. The leather balls are perfect.

40. What does the underlined word "They" refer to in the last paragraph?

- B: 45 you so much. I'll take your advice.

四、短文填空(本题 10 个空, 每空只填一词, 每空 1 分, 共 10 分)

阅读短文, 在空白处填入一个适当的单词或括号内单词的正确形式。

Soccer and basketball are sports 46 are alike in some ways. Both are played with a ball and two goals. In both sports, players dribble the ball(运球) to move it. Soccer players dribble the ball by 47 (move) it with their feet. They never use their hands. Basketball players dribble the ball by bouncing it with one hand. Players in both sports want to dribble the ball quickly. They don't want the other team to get it. They want 48 (get) the ball in their team's goal and score.

A soccer ball is 49 (kick) to score points, so soccer goals are on 50 ground. They are tall 51 wide. A basketball, however, is thrown to score 52 (point). So basketball goals are 53 (place) high on poles.

Since basketballs and soccer balls 54 (be) used in different ways, the sports are played on 55 (difference) kinds of fields. Soccer is played on grass, while basketball is played on a hard floor.
